MESSAGE from Mitsuroo Kubo

静謐マンガでは
甲子園という目標が最初から決まってて
主人公も迷いなく進むんでしょうが
このマンガでは
10巻かけてやっと主人公が
自分の目標を自分で決めます。 自分のための物語は 自分で作れるって気づくまで 時間がかかるもんですね。

Chapter 99 The Last Song's For You

And when you think "I want to die," please remember me...
That moment when we sang together will never disappear!

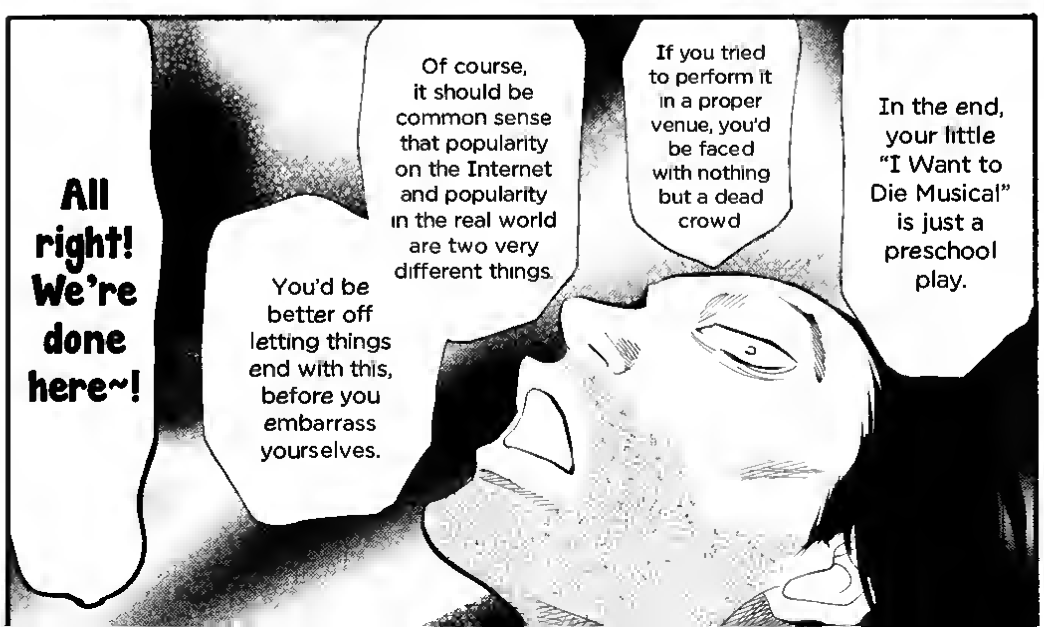
I didn't get to see any of the dancing!
Ah, me too!
I wanted to hear the "song I sing when there's nothing left to live for" part!
I-I didn't get to see the "I Want to Die Musical" from the beginning!
Is there any real reason you changed it to the "I Want to Live Musical"? You were originally planning to do it like this, right?
Why didn't you do this version in the gym, anyway?
Yeah, yeah!
Couldn't you do it again, in public?
Is it true that someone from the school banned this version? Seems kind of harsh...
Did someone make you cancel the "I Want to Die Musical"?
No you may not! Please leave!
Hana-taka-sa-n! May I take–
Ima-mura-san, can I get a picture?
No pic-tures!
The Drama Club's performances for the cultural festival are over!
That's the end! Every-one out, please!
Alright!

What the hell?
That's no fun...
If you allow yourself to get carried away like this, you will not develop into respectable members of society!
Please relieve yourselves of this ridiculous notion that the school and the Internet will turn you into some sort of pampered idols
WIPE
WIPE
You all are merely normal high school students with no remarkable talents

Are you still stuck in the delusions of your own story?
Ima-mura-kun
Hanataka-san actually succeeds in becoming an idol in the future!
It's not ridic-ulous!



All right! We're done here~!
You'd be better off letting things end with this, before you embarrass yourselves.
Of course, it should be common sense that popularity on the Internet and popularity in the real world are two very different things.
If you tried to perform it in a proper venue, you'd be faced with nothing but a dead crowd
In the end, your little "I Want to Die Musical" is just a preschool play.

Eh?

it's exploding with complaints from people who didn't get to see the "I Want to Die Musical".
If you take a look at the Net right now, Yes?
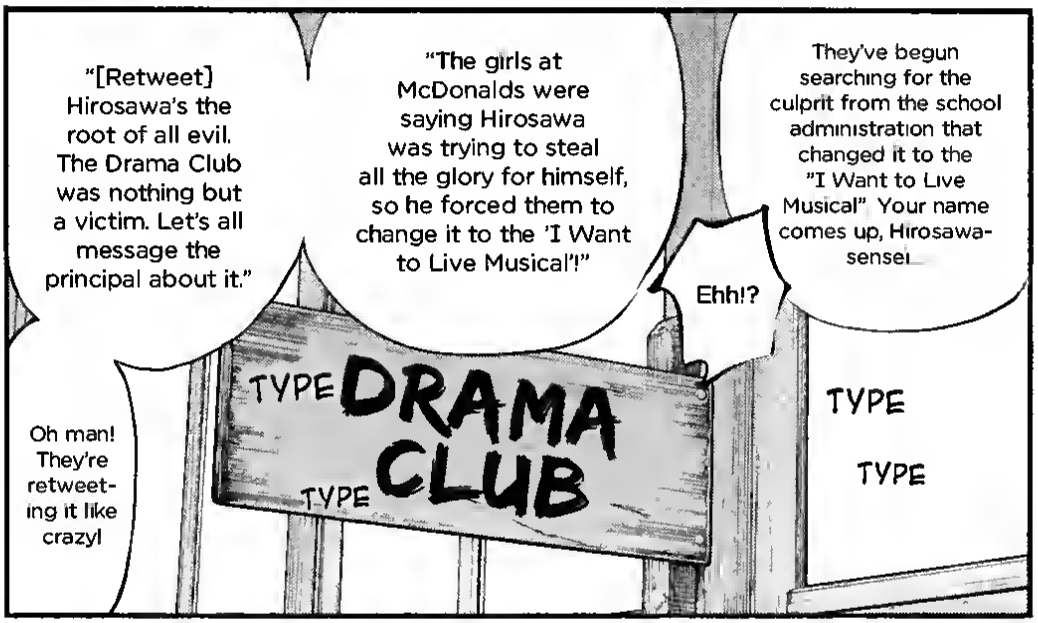
Excuse me, Hirosawa-sensei, do you have a moment?
Um-



"[Retweet] Hirosawa's the root of all evil. The Drama Club was nothing but a victim. Let's all message the principal about it."
"The girls at McDonalds were saying Hirosawa was trying to steal all the glory for himself, so he forced them to change it to the 'I Want to Live Musical'!"
They've begun searching for the culprit from the school administration that changed it to the "I Want to Live Musical" Your name comes up, Hirosawa-sensei Ehh!?
Oh man! They're retweeting it like crazy!

SHOVE SHOVE SHO
This is looking pretty bad
But it's not too late! We should find a larger venue and at least perform one song!
The crowd is on the verge of rioting!
Huh?
Yeah...

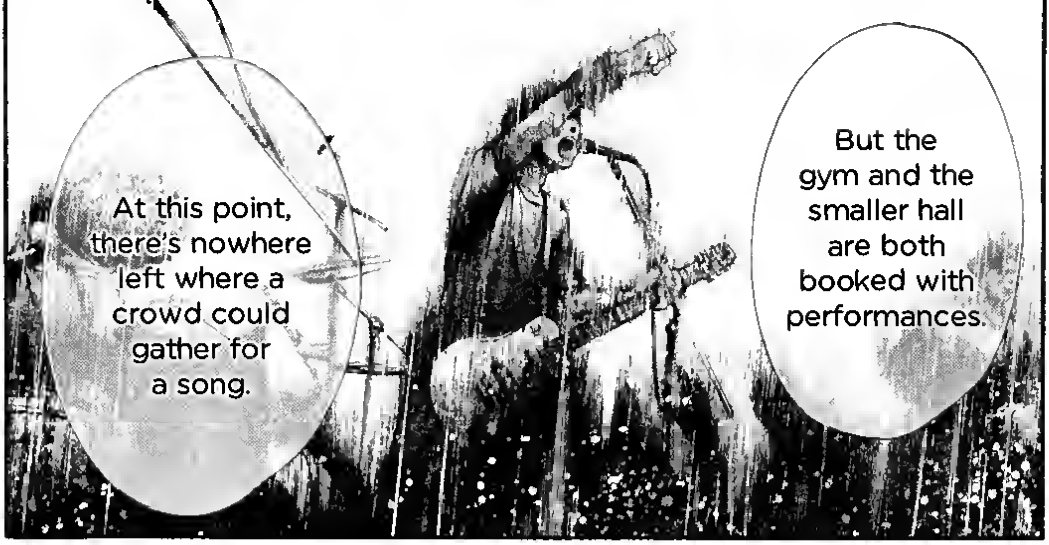
I WON'T FORGIVE YOU, INTER-NET!!
JU MP



At this point, there's nowhere left where a crowd could gather for a song.
But the gym and the smaller hall are both booked with performances.

The Cheer-leading Club could end our final show in the courtyard like 5 minutes early. Does that work?

I'd like to see the part where you get carried away and embarrass yourselves.
Ahhh~
I can't wait for the disappoint-ment.
Abe-tama!?

Oh yeah.
Let's do it, baby.
AL-RIGHT!
IT'S DECID-ED!
Isn't this great, Hirosawa-sensei?
Let's go make the necessary arrangements!
Ah? Eh.
Okay
Alright!
Let's go pass out some fliers!
Then, we can spread the word online.
I was searching online too... Was there really such a big uproar?
Nope.
Huh?
That was just a lie.
There weren't really that many people hoping for a second performance, either.

It'd already be too late if we just waited for it to catch fire.
So I had to take control of things and create an impression of public support.
My reading was pretty spot-on, wouldn't you say?

during the last 5 minutes of the festival, on the court-yard stage!
We're per-form-ing a musical
Please, come and listen!
T-shirts!
We're gonna sell every last one!
Okay!
Oh?

When the culture festival's over, I'd like to have a little business discus-sion with you Ta-wa-ra Y-Yeah.
Good luck!
What is this?
Is this the kind of thing that happens in my life?
This feeling of actually being wanted?

A girl who goes on to be a celebrity just kissed me.
We'll be .. starting soon.
Ima-mura-kun, can I have the mic?
Umm... To start off, I'd like to explain some things
Hehe
Uwa...
Is that really what my future's like...?
Hehe
Does that mean we're gonna start going out now...?
THE DRAMA CLUB!
I feel like...
SO, LET'S HEAR IT FOR
A life I never even dreamed of is starting to unfold before my eyes.

I'm the president of South Kabosu High School's Drama Club, Hanataka!
Today, we'll be performing a single song from our "I Want to Die Musical"!
This musical came to life through the Ouendan's efforts to save my almost-dead Drama Club.
I was lazy, and easily hurt, and could never get this absorbed in something on my own.
Every single day, I thought "I want to die." And the person who dragged me away from that thought was...

I even went so far as to stand on my head, naked, to confess that love. But, I was turned down.
I fell in love with Imamura-kun.
Ima-mura-kun here.
I hope you remember this song.
So, if any of you ever come to a time when you think "I want to die,"
But, thanks to this musical, I was able to smile in the end.
That made me think "I want to die" more than ever...
This is...
What in the...
What?
Huh?...

Imamurakun, thank you so much for everything.
I'll use this song to lay my feelings for you to rest, okay?

OOOHHHHH
OHH
